

Bryan Christy

Author, Investigative Journalist,
Filmmaker, Presenter

Bryan Christy is an American author and an internationally recognized investigative journalist. He founded National Geographic's Special Investigations Unit and was named National Geographic Society's Rolex Explorer of the Year. For its 125th Anniversary, the National Geographic Society declared his work "one of ten ways National Geographic has changed the world."

Christy's first novel, IN THE COMPANY OF KILLERS (Putnam) released on April 13, 2021.

He has been featured in two award-winning documentary films and has appeared on The Daily Show with Trevor Noah, CNN, the BBC, ABC News, MSNBC, and many other networks. For his work as presenter in the film Warlords of Ivory, Christy won a Wildscreen Panda Award, the wildlife film industry's top prize. His non-fiction book THE LIZARD KING (Hachette/Twelve) is currently being adapted into a film (A24 Films).

With starred reviews from every major trade reviewer, IN THE COMPANY OF KILLERS has been called "an exceptional adventure thriller" (Publisher's Weekly) and "chillingly current" (Booklist). The Global Investigative Journalism Network named it one of its top twelve books for 2021.
